

K. Patrick Neill

Pat is a career litigator who has been a partner with Hershner Hunter for more than forty years, serving as managing partner since 2003. In this role, he has successfully led the firm with the same measured wisdom and steady hand that have served him so well in litigation. Pat graduated first in his class at the University of Southern California Law School.

A native Oregonian, Pat left the palm trees and sun of L.A. to return to the Douglas firs and overcast skies of his home state immediately upon graduating. He spent his first two years after law school with Stoel Rives, LLP, in Portland before heading south to Eugene's more agreeable environs.

Since 1976, Pat and his wife, Sarah, have lived in Pleasant Hill, where they raised three sons. A leader in his community as well as at work, Pat served on the Pleasant Hill School Board for many years and was an officer of the Oregon School Boards Association. Always a mentor, he spent many years as a youth baseball and basketball coach.
